Partnership

The nAxiom platform provides many benefits such as greater competitiveness, improved customer service, lower costs and swift adaptability to the ever-shifting market.

Expand your product portfolio to include a flexible low-code platform allowing you to swiftly and easily design business apps, automate processes and efficiently manage data and documentation.

Partnership is a win-win situation to us. We assume partnership means more than just attractive prices and discounts - our partners can also count on our know-how and marketing support.

Partner support

We constantly expand our platform to include additional functions, and keep an eye out for new possibilities. We do all that in order to deliver products tailored to our partners' clients' needs, and to expand our partners' commercial offer by providing innovative solutions.

Know-how support

It's absolutely vital for the clients to know all the capabilities of the solution on offer, so our partners can count on our support in this matter. Along with our partners, we participate in presentations, run training sessions in order to explain the properties and features of the nAxiom platform, and keep them up to date regarding the newly implemented features.

Marketing support

We put a premium on the reputation of both parties. As such, we always proudly inform one and all about newly-established partnerships via our website and social media. We share our body of knowledge and promotional materials with our partners. Additionally, we prepare video clips which explain our solutions in an accessible manner.
